Wolverton and Cosgrove

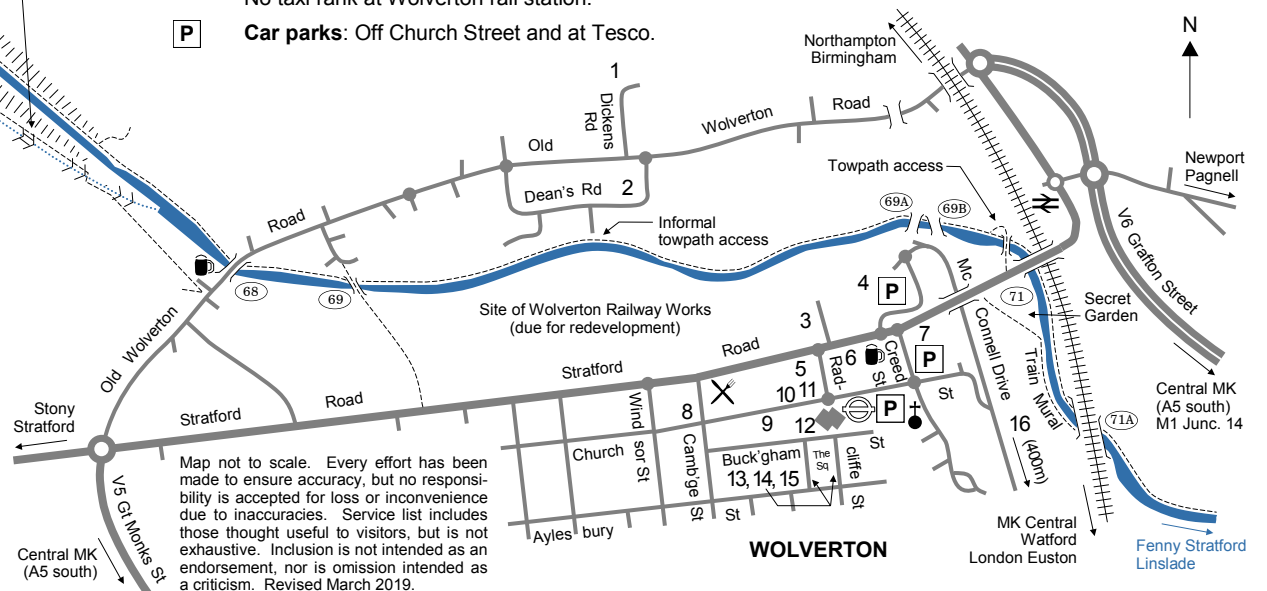

Guide Map for waterway visitors

IWA Milton Keynes Branch welcomes you to Wolverton and Cosgrove. Wolverton was home to the workshops of the London & Birmingham Railway (later the LNWR and LMS), and is a classic railway town.

By contrast, Cosgrove is a quiet country village, bisected but enhanced by the canal. Between the two is the "Iron Trunk" Aqueduct over the River Great Ouse, built in 1811 after the earlier brick aqueduct collapsed.

A companion Guide for Fenny Stratford, where the canal leaves Milton Keynes towards London, is also available at:
